Washington turned the tables on the Chicagoans in masterly style Saturday afternoon at American Park, the score being 8 to 3 in the Senators' favor. Fully 4,500 spectators were present, and their cheering was almost incessant.

Wyatt Lee was on the rubber for the Senators and the Kansas City had never pitched a more brilliant game, when his hand start is considered. It seemed as if the Chicago batters could not locate the ball at all and were lucky when they made fouls. Nine of them struck out, and there were several others who had two strikes called on them when they retired on chances to the infield. Patterson, the star of the American League in the percentage column last season, did the twirling for Chicago, and his delivery was of the peach. Lee led the slaughter with two triples and two singles, while Foster and Dungan were close up with first and second base. Lee also having a triple and the latter a double.

The game was an exact reversal of that played Friday. In that game Griffith, the Senators' look very cheap and Carlick was hit hard, while on Saturday the white Sox got into the "pickers" class and Patterson's delivery was of the peach. Lee slipped up on a hot grounder which got by him on a puzzling point. But Quinn made the star play of the day and could have been forgiven a dozen errors after he pulled it off. It occurred in the seventh, and as the out was completed every man, woman and child inside the park rose to their feet and cheered like mad. Shugart was the batter, and hitting at the ball a little late, drove a whizzing grounder toward right. It was quite a run for Quinn, but he covered a world of ground, and as the sphere was going by he stuck out his left hand and the ball was caught in his glove in a sensational manner. He had quite a time recovering himself, but he finally did the trick and threw the runner out at first. Taking into consideration the speed at which the ball was going and the ground covered by Quinn, it was one of the most brilliant plays seen at the park so far this season.

Billy Clingan also bumped into a brilliant play, and it was on a chance directly opposite to the one accepted by Quinn. It was a ball hit slowly to the left of the pitcher, and Clingan had to run almost to the center of the diamond and beat a fast runner to first who was expected to be there in artistic fashion and was given the happy hand.

Chicago started off in the first inning as if it intended repeating the dose administered to the Senators the day before. After Hoy had struck out, Jones placed a single over second and Mertes followed with one over Farrell's head in center. The ball went into the woodpile, and when it was recovered the batter had crossed the plate. In the second inning Mertes followed with one over Farrell's head in center. The ball went into the woodpile, and when it was recovered the batter had crossed the plate. In the second inning Mertes followed with one over Farrell's head in center. The ball went into the woodpile, and when it was recovered the batter had crossed the plate.

In the third the Senators got their first runs and tied the score right off the reel. Lee opened with a single, but was forced at first by Farrell. Dungan followed with a single and after Quinn had fled out, Foster hammered out a double and then crossed the plate. Everett then continued the good work with a single to right and Foster scored. In the fourth Clingan reached second on McFarland's beautiful drive to the center-field fence, and Lee and Coughlin singled in the sixth and Lee again hit for a triple, scoring the fourth run, and a moment later himself on Dungan's triple. The two runs in the eighth resulted from a single, a base on error and a beautiful double by Quinn, his only hit of the game.

Umpire Haskell's umpiring was all that could be desired.

Summer Clothing for Particular Men

—Or for those who want just something to knock about in.

Flannel Suits in about fifty different patterns, all made with a dash and style to them, all possessing that tailoring character that appeals to good and careful dressers. $8.00 to $20. But it's hardly necessary to give them newspaper publicity, for the supply (which is the greatest in Washington) can barely keep up with the demand. Crash Suits are scarce, because they're side-stepped by the popular flannels and India Linens.

Plenty here, however, for those who want them.

Fine Serge Suits at $10 and $12

May be had here. Surprisingly good are they; in fact, equal to the best $12 and $15 sorts of other good stores.

They're not made in a careless manner as serges at these prices usually are—but there's true tailoring dignity and distinctiveness in every one of them.

A man dressed in one of these suits is attired with character and exclusiveness, with fashion and refinement.

Is this possible at these low prices, you ask?

Yes, we answer; at this store. Because it is the best store. Because behind us is an ambition and steadfast purpose that resolves—you shall and will get Better Clothes Here for Same Money or Equal Qualities for Less

Than elsewhere. We have expanded and grown. Growth follows betterment. Where our flag has been planted there shall it remain—because it is the flag of honor; one that stands for merit, for modern business principles, for integrity, for everlasting endeavoring that promotes progress, for best at least. Growth is unanswerable proof of superiority and success.

HIGH SCHOOL BASE BALL.

The Championship Again Won by the Central Nine.

Two interesting ball games were played on the Georgetown grounds Saturday, and between the four High School teams, and as they were the closing contests of the season a very large crowd was in attendance. The first game was between the Eastern and Western teams, and a great contest it was, the boys from the latter school finally scoring a victory by the figures 8 to 7.

The second game was put up by the Central and Business lads, and it required ten innings before this contest could be brought to a close, the Centrals finally winning out by 9 to 8. The Business boys started off well, getting their runs in pairs in the first two innings, while Central had to be satisfied with single tallies, but the latter kept everlastingly at it, and at the end of the fifth inning were one run to the good.

In the sixth Central picked up another tally, and matters looked rosy, but in the ninth the Business boys once more set to work with a will, scoring three runs and tying the score. Then in the tenth it was nip and tuck again, but Central got the one run over the plate necessary to win again, and the great game was ended. Friends of both teams flocked down to the field and matters looked rosy, but in the ninth the Business boys once more set to work with a will, scoring three runs and tying the score. Then in the tenth it was nip and tuck again, but Central got the one run over the plate necessary to win again, and the great game was ended.

The following table shows the standing of the four teams as a result of the season's play:

Central..... 2 0 100
Business..... 1 1 800
Western..... 1 1 500
Eastern..... 0 2 800

Business and Western played one tie game.

PIERCE TO RACE McEACHERN.

Will Meet in a 25-Mile Motor-Paced Race.

Another race in the series of international contests will be pulled off on the track at the Coliseum, 14th and East Capitol streets, Thursday night at 8 o'clock, when Burns Pierce, the Nova Scotian, and Archie McEachern of Canada are to contest for honors in a twenty-five-mile motor-paced race.

The international races which began at the Coliseum a few weeks ago, from the present outlook, will continue for several weeks. Pierce and McEachern both claim the championship of Canada, and both give that country as their camping ground, and the race Thursday night, which will be the second of a series of three races, will prove who is entitled to the championship.

Another race of interest in the international series which is scheduled to take place Saturday night is between Tom Linton, Albert Champion, Linton, Tom Linton, who led his opponents to the eighth place of Wales, as both riders are natives of the same town in that country. Albert Champion was a great France rider, and he is known as champion of France. Champion was sent to this country by a Paris manufacturer of racing machines. All the men and women have been matched to be race best two in three. The first race in each series is to occur in Baltimore, the second in Washington, and if a third contest should be necessary, place and date will be mutually agreed upon.

Pierce won the twenty-five-mile event between Edouard Taylore, the champion of France, in this city last Thursday night, which really proved the riding qualities of this rider. Again in Philadelphia, at the Wondside Park Track, Saturday, Pierce defeated Jimmie Michael and Archie McEachern in a three-cornered contest of thirty miles and a half.

BY A ONE-SIDED SCORE.

Dumbarton Club Golfers Defeated by Chevy Chase by 34 to 0.

The fine weather of Saturday and the match arranged between the Chevy Chase and Dumbarton golf clubs, being the second contest for The Evening Star cup, drew a large gathering of spectators to the course of the latter organization in Georgetown. Ladies and gentlemen arrived at the grounds as early as 1 o'clock, and when play started an hour later the gallery was the largest seen on the Dumbarton grounds this season.

As the different prominent pairs drove off the initial tee and started over the course, groups of twenty-five or fifty persons followed to closely watch the play, and as a result by 8:30 the surrounding hills were occupied by picturesque groups. The light breeze that was blowing over the fields was just strong enough to offset the heat of the sun and not interfere with the good work of the players.

As was predicted in The Star Saturday, the Chevy Chase golfers won out by a one-sided score, the figures being 34 to 0, but the Dumbarton players frequently put up stiff matches against their opponents and were only beaten out in from two to six strokes. But as each Chevy Chase player added his little score to the others the aggregate showing was formidable. Following are the scores in detail:

McFarland Wins Ten-Mile Race.

Over 7,000 spectators saw the bicycle races at the Vauxhall track, near Newark, yesterday. One rider ran into a bunch of spectators and fell. The three riders following him fell and were severely shaken up. Fortunately, nobody was badly injured.

The feature of the meet was a ten-mile race for professionals, in which twenty-five men started. As special prizes were offered to the leader at each mile, the pace was fast from the start, and the spectators were on their feet shouting during the last mile. At the home of the race, the Californian, McFarland, sprinted, and, setting a terrible pace, managed to hold the field at the end. Walworth, Newhouse and Kramer made a desperate attempt to catch him, and at the tape only inches separated the riders, and blanket were turned both amateur races in clever fashion. He is a vegetarian, and uses his head as well as his feet.

General Athletic News.

In the Erie county athletic contests, held in the Stadium at the Pan-American exposition grounds, Jerry Pierce of the Carlisle Indian School won the five-mile run in the good time of 23:30.5. His brother Frank was third, and also won the mile handicap from the 100-yard mark in 4:43.5-5.

Miss Beale Moore and Miss Marion Jones, former women champions of America at lawn tennis, met Saturday in the tennis play of the singles in the Kings County Tennis Club tournament in Brooklyn. When they met last Monday in Washington, Miss Jones was the winner, but Saturday Miss Moore won 11 three straight sets, 6-3, 10-8, 6-2.

W. A. Larned, middle states champion tennis player of the United States, won the Maryland state championship at Catonsville Saturday by defeating Frederick Alexander, the great Princeton player, in the open tournament given by the Catonsville Country Club. Larned won by 6-3, 6-3, 6-1.

The New York Athletic Club opened the season at its summer home, Travers Island, on Sunday, August 12, with a program of track and field events, none of which produced a new record. Thousands of men and women, in the gayest of summer raiment, enjoyed a first-class day's sport. In the 100-yard dash Arthur F. Duffy of Georgetown, on scratch, failed to make the time, and the Irish hater, Charles Seitz of Fordham College, who won in 9:4.5 seconds, had a handicap of ten yards, so that had Duffy qualified for the final he would have had to beat the record.

Base Ball Notes.

Mr. Wyatt Lee is something of a pitcher. Patterson is also a good twirler, but Saturday wasn't his day to shine.

Katoli was sent out to warm up in the sixth by Manager Griffith, but it was like throwing good money after bad, and Patterson was allowed to finish the game.

There is no "hoodoo" about the Washington-Chicago game, the latter club's batters cannot hit left-handed pitchers, and that is all there is to it.

Washington this afternoon, and if he repeats his performance of last week in Chicago another victory for the Senators can be counted on.

Slide, you Senators, slide! Farrell, Grady and Coughlin are about the only base runners on the team who will "hit the earth" in a pinch, and such efforts frequently knock out a close play.

"Two and one, two and one," used to be the song handed out to Dungan last season, as he generally registered two hits one day and then one the next, and kept that up for weeks at a time. Saturday he made it three. Jones was the only Comiskeyite to get two bingles, Mertes, Isbell and McFarland hitting out the five with one each. The drives of Mertes and McFarland were of the "beauty bright" order.

Grady never put up a better game behind the bat than he did Saturday, and Michael also got in a fine single. His good throwing prevented the Chicago lads getting too venturesome.

Perhaps "Bandow" Mertes hasn't been a great aid for Comiskey? His playing of the Orioles of 1890, now with the New Brady House, Arkansas avenue near the beach, Atlantic City, which will give information about the elegantly furnished rooms, the moderate terms, the music and other details of a hotel with a capacity of 200.
